

A large group of students, many wearing traditional Indian attire like sarees and kurta, are seated in a lecture hall. A male lecturer in a striped shirt stands at the front, facing the class. The room features orange walls, wooden paneling, and several air conditioners. The students are focused on the lecture, with some taking notes.

