Today the second day of Oikos Nomos was an inevitable day with an inevitable session. The program was started at 6:00pm. The topic of today's session was 'who are transgressors'. It was clearly and beautifully taken by Adarsh R. It was a very interactive session, where the students asked their doubt and expressed their views. The program ended at 7:00pm.

Truly today's class changed our perception about life. The answer of true affection can only be given by those who are thirsty for that. The program ended by an optimistic thought that whatever might be the situation, 'we can and we will'.
